Massachusetts Department of Social Services

Young Parent Support Program

Program: The Massachusetts Department of Social Services has issued a Request for Response to purchase community based young parent programs that will meet the various needs of pregnant and parenting young parents and their children. These programs will promote improved outcomes for those who become young parents and mitigate the adverse consequences of early childbearing. The Department of Social Services intends that services provided through the Young Parents Support programs will assist young parents in obtaining the necessary skills and knowledge to be competent parents, live independently, lead productive lives, and ensure the healthy growth and development of their children. The Massachusetts Department of Social Services is seeking supportive and preventive services for young parents. Bidders will work with the young parent family to determine their strengths and needs, and then develop a package of services to assist the young family in building on their strengths and meeting their needs. Services may include, but not be limited to outreach, case management, social services, parenting education, and transportation and should be available to both mothers and fathers. The social service component will include, but not be limited to, independent living skills training, parenting skills training, domestic violence education and counseling, substance abuse counseling, and developmental services. Programs will work with the young parent families in order to connect them to the formal and informal resources of their community. The use of a strength based approach and the active involvement of the young parent is critical to the success of the program. The department has determined the following priority populations for this solicitation:

- One – These isolated young parents, mothers and fathers through the age of
